A04: Unusual lines after 1 Nf3 and King's Indian Attack In this overview I will discuss lines where White aims for setups based on the English or the Réti. My main recommendation is to play for a quick ...f5-f4 and wait with ...e7-e5 against the English. There is nothing wrong with ...e7-e5, but then we often transpose to one of the main lines which White players who play the English might be quite familiar with. Against the setups with Nf3 and d2-d3 followed by e2-e4 I recommend a setup where Black plays ... f5 and ...e5. 1.Nf3 f5 2.d3 Nf6 3.e4 d6 4.exf5

A04: Unusual lines after 1 Nf3 and King's Indian Attack In this overview I will discuss lines where White aims for setups based on the English or the Réti.
My main recommendation is to play for a quick ...f5-f4 and wait with ...e7-e5 against the English. There is nothing wrong with ...e7-e5, but then we often transpose to one of the main lines which White players who play the English might be quite familiar with. Against the setups with Nf3 and d2-d3 followed by e2-e4 I recommend a setup where Black plays ... f5 and ...e5. 1.Nf3 f5 2.d3 Nf6 3.e4 d6 4.exf5

A04: Unusual lines after 1 Nf3 and King's Indian Attack In this overview I will discuss lines where White aims for setups based on the English or the Réti.
My main recommendation is to play for a quick ...f5-f4 and wait with ...e7-e5 against the English. There is nothing wrong with ...e7-e5, but then we often transpose to one of the main lines which White players who play the English might be quite familiar with. Against the setups with Nf3 and d2-d3 followed by e2-e4 I recommend a setup where Black plays ... f5 and ...e5. 1.Nf3 f5 2.d3 Nf6 3.e4 d6 4.exf5

Essentially, we were both leaning against a wall, imagining the game, telling each other our moves, discussing other things as well, and just enjoying a quick friendly (15 minutes or so). 1.Nf3 f5 2.d3 Das bescheiden wirkende 2.d3 enthält mehr Gift, als es auf den ersten Blick aussieht. Mit der Drohung e2-e4 will Weiß das gesamte Konzept der Holländischen Verteidigung unterminieren. Die "logische" Erwiderung scheint 2...Nf6 zu sein, um sich dem Zentrumsstoß entgegenzustemmen.

A04: Unusual lines after 1 Nf3 and King's Indian Attack P.L.: 'At the British chess championships at Torquay, whilst I was waiting for my mother to finish her game (the last one in the hall), I was with Chris Briscoe. Since I was painfully bored, he kindly agreed to play me a blindfold game. Essentially, we were both leaning against a wall, imagining the game, telling each other our moves, discussing other things as well, and just enjoying a quick friendly (15 minutes or so). I am adding this game to my database the day after; I think I have remembered the moves correctly -- in mental chess, the moves usually stick in the brain.' 1.Nf3 f5 2.d3 Nf6 After this natural move White can offer a gambit. 3.e4! fxe4 Capturing the pawn is very risky.
